

Rosa was wearing a long white velvet dress sitting on a stone pier by the creek, her skirt casually scattered on the lawn. The breeze touching their cheeks looked very comfortable, and this was their adolescent life.

